

Construction Of Loyola Memorial Chapel Begins

Sacred Relic Venerated By Faculty And Students

The right hand and forearm of St. Francis Xavier, Patron of the Missions, who died more than three hundred fifty years ago, was venerated by members of the Loyola Faculty, students and visitors at a special devotion held at Evergreen on Friday, November 11, from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m.

Displayed first before the statue of Our Lady of Evergreen, the relic was honored by lay instructors, students and visitors.

It was then taken into the Chapel of St. Francis Xavier, where Loyola Jesuits, together with other priests hurried from the Archdiocese of Baltimore, assembled to pay their devotions and offer their intentions.

Film Shown

After this, His Excellency, the Most Rev. Thomas J. McDonnell, National Director of the Propagation of the Faith, showed a motion picture that he had taken during his recent tour of Japan and other places in the Far East where St. Francis taught.

Following the showing of the film, the priests attended an informal reception in the Faculty House.

In the morning, preceding the veneration at Loyola, there was a Solemn Service in the Sanctuary of St. Ignatius' Church at which the Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, D. D., presided.

Taken To Wernersville

At the Solemn Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College, was the Celebrant; the Very Rev. Joseph L. Blunt, S. J., President of Loyola High School, Deacon; and the Rev. Francis J. McVeigh, S. J., Pastor of St. Ignatius' Church, Subleacon.

On Monday, November 14, the relic was taken to the Novitiate and Juniorate at Wernersville, Pa., and thence to Philadelphia.

ASN Awards Two Medals

Loyola's chapter of Alpha Sigma Nu, the national Jesuit honor society, voted for the winners of awards to be given to "the most outstanding freshman" and to "the most outstanding sophomore" for the 1948-49 school year at its regular meeting in Room 101 on Monday, November 14. The winners' names will be announced at the first quarterly assembly of the student body.

Until this year only "the most outstanding freshman" received the award, which is given on the basis of scholarship, service and loyalty. The sophomore award was decided upon at the meeting of Wednesday, November 9, at which time also keys and certificates were given to last year's inductees into the society.

Dr. Hoyt, John Hall Go To Southern Meeting

Dr. William D. Hoyt, assistant professor of history at Loyola and moderator of the John Gilmory Shea History Academy, with John Hall, president of the Academy, attended the fifteenth annual meeting of the Southern Historical Association, held in Williamsburg, Va., on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 10-12.

Final Atomic - Energy Lecture To Be Delivered By Dr. Wolf

"Socio-Biological Aspects of Atomic Energy" will be the title of a lecture to be given by Dr. Leonard N. Wolf, chairman of the Biology Department, Scranton University, in the Loyola Library on Sunday, November 20, at 4:00 p.m.

Sponsored by the Evening School, this talk will be the last in a series of three lectures entitled "Atomic Energy and the Social Sciences."

Dr. Wolf, a Pennsylvanian, received his bachelor's degree from St. Vincent's College, Latrobe. Continuing his studies of biology, he got his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Pittsburgh.

He also attended Penn State University and the University of Maine and did graduate research work in endocrinology at Pitt.

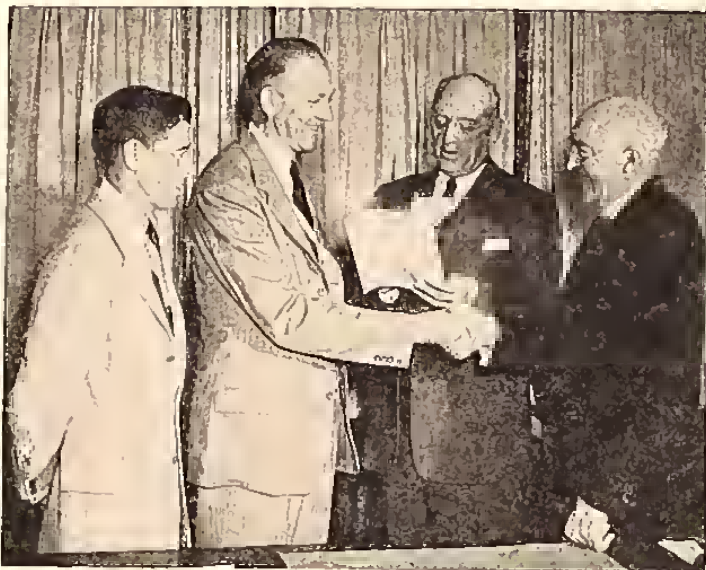

A member of Phi Sigma and Sigma Xi, national honorary science fraternities, Dr. Wolf is also associated with the American Society of Zoologists and the Pennsylvania Academy of Sciences. In addition he has been an associate editor of Best Sellers, Inc.

The first talk of the series was given by Dr. Fletcher G. Watson, Professor of Education, Harvard University, on November 6. The second was delivered by the Hon. Millard E. Tydings, United States Senator from Maryland, on November 13.

THE CHAPEL CONTRACT SIGNED. Father Talbot strikes hands with Mr. John A. Rohde, secretary of McShain, Inc., while Mr. Evelyn Gaudreau, architect, inspects the contract and Mr. Wilbur T. Sjolander, engineer, looks on.

Building Will Be Completed Before Fall

With the arrival of a bulldozer and other equipment, construction of Our Lady's Chapel of Evergreen has got under way just one month after the official ground-breaking ceremony.

According to an announcement from the office of the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., president of Loyola, the combined chapel and auditorium will be completed before September 1, 1950.

McShain Receives Contract

The contract for the edifice, which will be a memorial to Loyola men who served, especially to those thirty who gave their lives, in the Second World War, was awarded to John McShain, Inc., on Friday, November 4.

Nationally known contractors, the McShain company constructed such famous buildings as the Pentagon Building; the Naval Medical Center, Bethesda; the Bureau of Printing and Engraving; the Naval Hospital and the Wills Eye Hospital, both in Philadelphia; the Washington National Airport; and the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library, Hyde Park.

Plans for the chapel were prepared by Gaudreau and Gaudreau, architects.

Located On Hillside

Located on the hillside on the west end of the campus just below the level of the Science Building, the edifice will have two main entrances. The upper-level entrance will be to the chapel itself, while the lower-level one will lead into the auditorium, to be known as the Charles M. Cohn Auditorium. The total seating capacity of both floors will be approximately 1,100.

The cost of the building will be nearly $600,000, over two-thirds of which has already been collected through donations to the Chapel Fund, which was started in 1946.

Two Separate Sessions Planned For Next Year's Commencement

Loyola's centennial commencement, in 1950, will take place in two separate sessions—one in January and one in July—it was announced by the office of the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola.

A total of 330 students will be graduated during these ceremonies.

Ninety In January Class

The first session will be held on January 29, at which time 90 students will receive their degrees. Two hundred forty members of the classes of May and July '50 will be graduated at the second session, which will take place during the last week in July.

The main speaker for the January exercises will be announced in the near future.

Ends Accelerated Program

Next year's commencement will mark the end of the three-year accelerated course at Loyola, which was introduced in 1943 as a wartime measure.

Under the accelerated program a student attended six regular 16-week terms and three additional eight-week summer sessions.

The actual centennial year of Loyola College will be 1952. The two-year discrepancy results from additional graduation exercises conducted during the war years.

Election Rules Change

The following are the texts of an amendment to the Constitution of the Student Council and of a newly enacted Bylaw there-to:

Amendment: "Nominations for class officers shall consist of a petition of fifteen signatures of class members to be presented to the Secretary of the Student Council on the Friday of the week before elections."

Bylaw: "Petitions for nomination to class office must state which office the petitioners seek. Nominative offices include President, Secretary and Treasurer. The office of Vice-President will be occupied by the runner-up in the election for the office of President."

Alumni Association To Sponsor Retreat

Loyola's Alumni Association will sponsor a retreat at Manresa-on-Severn beginning on Friday evening, December 2, and continuing until Sunday, December 4.

Daniel H. Bathou, retreat committee chairman, said, "Alumni are urged to attend and are reminded that their friends are also invited." He also requested that those wishing to attend the retreat make their reservations in advance.

Alumni who will need rides to Manresa should inform Frank Sweeney, in the Evening School Office.

May Yearbook Will Have Spring Supplement, Jan. '50 Pictures

Spring activities and sports will be included in the Evergreen Annual by means of a late supplement to be mailed to all students. The yearbook is scheduled for distribution before the end of the term in May.

Editor F. Leimkuhler has warned all seniors who have not returned their portrait proofs to do so immediately or risk having the book appear without their pictures. Those who have not yet had their pictures taken or have not approved and returned the proofs should contact Edward Martin, '50, or the Segall Majestic Studios.

Seniors Describing Selves

Thanksgiving is the deadline for submission of senior questionnaires. The questionnaires must be accompanied by a write-up by the senior himself or a friend.

The Rev. Joseph A. d'Inville, S. J., faculty advisor, announced, through post cards sent to all students, that patrons fees would be $2.00.

Need Business Staff Members

Business manager Lawrence Mohr reports that "advertising and patron fees are trickling in, far behind last year's returns." He has announced that the deadline for patron and advertising contracting has been extended to Thanksgiving.

Mohr also reveals a need for new members for the business staff of the annual. He said that the usual fifteen-percent commission on all ads sold is in effect, and that both he and Fr. d'Inville had lists of potential advertisers prepared.

Asks Aid Of Jan. '50

Original plans called for a division of the book into fall and spring sections, with the rotogravure of the January graduating class following the former, and that of the July graduates, after the latter.

To carry this out, Mohr appeals to the members of the January class for co-operation, saying "We are especially anxious that January 1950 classmembers take an interest."

Council Clears More Obstacles

Motions aimed at eliminating confusion arising from the hazy wording and record of proposals effecting Student Council procedure occupied most of the time of the October 27 and November 3 meetings.

At the latter session the Council decided that such motions be permanently listed in a supplement to the constitution.

Committees Formed

Edward O. Clarke then moved that a standing resolutions committee be established through which all amendments and by-laws would have to pass for guidance in drafting. Extensive debate ensued, with Edward McNeal finally suggesting that "by-laws" be struck out. The motion then passed, becoming another requirement in amending the constitution.

Harry K. Shock and Edward McNeal were named the permanent members of this committee. Donald Rochowiak was appointed head of a committee to study improvements in the cut system.

Requirements Changed

The other successful motion of the two sessions was that of F. Leimkuhler, providing that candidates under the new nomination system must specify the office they seek.

Voted down was the reintroduced motion of Francis Meagher stating that students could hold but one office on Council-recognized activities. Its consideration had been objected to by Eugene P. Corrigan as dilatory.

NFCCS Convenes Here To Plan Month

Delegates from the eleven NFCCS-member schools in Baltimore, Washington and Emmitsburg attended the regional council meeting held at Evergreen on Sunday, November 13.

Edward A. Puta, Loyola delegate, welcomed the visitors before the general session, held at 11 a. m.

The council planned a leadership workshop, similar to the one held last year, to take place at Immaculata Junior College, in Washington, on December 10. The chartering of the regional press commission was deferred until next month's meeting, which will be at Dunbarton on December 11.

John Duchesne, of Catholic University, was appointed publicity director. He will replace Eugene P. Corrigan, of Loyola, last year's senior delegate.

The re-instatement of the Interracial commission was approved, and John Gierich, of C. U., last year's chairman, was petitioned to act in that capacity. Polly Gottfried, regional chairman of the Overseas Service Program, spoke on behalf of the campaign.

Tie In July '50 Presidential Election Goes Before Council

JULY 1950'S NEW OFFICERS plan the class's first Student Council representation in two years. Bob Bourbon is at left outlining his ideas to Charles Clark and Emerson Clarke.

Emerson Clarke and Charles Clark have been named co-presidents of the July '50 class in a move by the Student Council without known precedent. Tied in the elections of November 4, the new officers were given the joint post by the Council, rather than having one of them chosen president and the other becoming vice-president.

Robert S. Bourbon was chosen secretary, and Charles Sybert, treasurer. Bourbon was a runner-up in the presidential race, with 41 votes cast in his name. The winners drew 44.

Four Are Veterans

All four of the newly elected officers served in the armed forces. Emerson Clarke saw Army service after graduation from Baltimore Polytechnic Institute. He is active in the IRC and vice-president of the Mask and Rapper Society, and is in the BS-I group.

Charles Clark is an Army veteran and the only married man elected. He attended Wake Forest as a service student, and was a star halfback for Calvert Hall College. While in high school he was also a class officer for two years. He is a BS-II student.

Prom Is Possibility

Bourbon is a graduate of Loyola High School, a Marine veteran, sports editor of THE GREYHOUND and the Evergreen, a socialist, lacrosse player, and editor of the basketball program. Sybert attended Calvert Hall College, where he was a football and baseball star, and has been a varsity pitcher for three Greyhound teams. He is treasurer of the Block 'L' Club and a Ph.B. student.

Date of the proposed Junior Prom, delayed because of elections, has been set as December 17. The Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Emerson has been reserved after approval by the council of candidates, the only class government.

Debaters Ready For Tests And Television Tangles

Debating Society activities for the coming weeks include the inauguration of intercollegiate competition in December, monthly Oregon-style debates, and possible television appearances.

President Edward O. Clarke has announced that one meeting of the society each month is devoted to the Oregon type disputation, in which a cross-examination method is used.

Seniors Job-Tested

Seventy-three seniors took a Field Underwriter aptitude test on Monday, November 7, under the sponsorship of the Vocational Guidance and Placement Bureau.

Mr. Russell C. Wonderlic, manager of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, and Mr. Norbert J. Bittner, assistant manager, administered the tests. Mr. Bittner is a graduate of Loyola.

Results of the tests were reviewed with those taking them on Monday, November 14.

Loyolans Sing Tomorrow Night

The Loyola College Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Felice Iula, will participate tomorrow night at 8:30 in a mass concert at Baltimore Polytechnic Institute's auditorium.

The program, sponsored by the Maryland District of the Associated Male Chorus of America, will feature the singing of nine organizations. Among these are the University of Maryland Glee Club, the Baltimore and Ohio Glee Club, the Schubert Singing Society and the Waverly Men's Chorus.

Mr. Iula will conduct Loyola's group in singing The Battle Hymn of the Republic; later in the program, he will lead the entire assembly in a rendition of Dance, My Comrades. Tickets will be available at the door.

The official date of the Club's annual Christmas Carol program has been released. The carolling will take place in the Alumni Gymnasium on Sunday, December 11, at 4 p.m.

It has also been disclosed that Mr. Iula is contemplating the formation of a Gay Nineties Quartette, composed of John O'Connor, Joseph Paska, Lawrence Godey and John Kelly, Jr.

News In Brief

Loyola's Rifle Club is still open for new members, according to President William Volenick. Guns and ammunition are furnished free by the club. A mail match will be held against Dartmouth College on November 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble G. Costantine have announced the birth of twin daughters on Tuesday evening, November 8. Costantine is a graduate of July '49.

The Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society has disclosed plans for a Thanksgiving party. Time and place have not yet been selected, but will be announced later.

A new set of steps leading to the Bell has been constructed directly in line with the walkway from the Library Building. Their construction has eliminated the necessity of students walking to the far ends of the Bell in order to attend classes.

Loyola students have been invited to hear Donald Attwater deliver an address at Mt. St. Agnes College on Monday, November 28 at 4:00 p.m. Mr. Attwater, a prominent author, will lecture on The Church Behind The Iron Curtain.

Actors Beat Ladies In Telecast Tussle

Loyola's thespians defeated the Maryland College for Women on Monday, November 7.

In a program, entitled Collegiate Talent Tussle, televised over WAAM-TV the Loyola ladies managed to set the ladies down prettily. Representing Evergreen were Harriette Thomas Rodney, Joseph Serio and comely William Mullikin.

Mullikin, who sang his own version of Waiting For the Robert E. Lee, received the highest number of points—thirty-four.

Serio, a pianist, offered his interpretation of Opus No. 1. Rodney sang Thine Alone, receiving thirty points for his rendition.

This victory entitles the actors to meet Goucher College some time in the near future. Goucher defeated Hopkins several weeks ago.

DOUBLE, DOUBLE—Dr. Kirwin isn't stirring up a quarterly test or hulling down the exam marks. He is merely helping William Volenick and Edwin Watson ply their culinary arts.

Collegiate Cooks Conjure New Culinary Concoctions

"Too many cooks may spoil the broth" at other schools, but it seems that at Loyola, we have one male cook out of every five students! Not only do they cook, but they apparently look with scorn on such standard things as cook books, preferring to cook by "mood," "color," and, in the case of a faculty member, a photographic time-clock!

Our collegiate cooks can be divided into two groups: the full-time cooks and the specialists. Among the full-time boys we have Ken Grimm, an apparent artist with the pot and pan, and faculty member, Dr. Kirwin, who stands head and shoulders above all his culinary constituents. Ken's specialty is baked ham with fruit sauce, coffee royal (coffee with brandy added), spare ribs and sauerkraut for that German touch, and pizza and ravioli for the Italian element. He learned cooking when his mother became ill and Ken had to shift for himself. Dr. Kirwin's specialty is baked chicken, and his students claim his art as the best.

Ed Watson is a specialty cook who likes to make bacon and eggs according to "color," while Bill Volenick prefers a specialty in which he injects grilled cheese in a hot dog and then smothers all in either brown gravy or meat sauce depending on his "mood." Ed's first fling at cooking resulted in a frying pan, ablaze with burning grease, flying out the window and the coffee erupting on the kitchen stove. He ate out that day.

Bill Mullikin likes to bake "hot milk" cakes. He likes to bake them, but he never eats them. Jack Spelacy prefers to concoct "pickle sandwiches."

Noted Photographers Disclose Choice Stills, Give Comments

Sills, Von Mayer Picked As IRC Forum Delegates

Loyola's International Relations Club will travel to Washington next Friday and Saturday.

Dr. Harry W. Kirwin, moderator of the club, has announced that he will send two official delegates to the IRC's regional conference which will be held at Georgetown University. Topic of the discussions will be The United States in World Politics.

The program will consist of a series of round-table discussions by the various colleges represented. Joseph Sills, one of Loyola's delegates, will talk on the United States and Western Europe. Wilfred Von Mayer will present the United States and its influence in Eastern Europe.

The Rev. J. Hunter Guthrie, S. J., president of Georgetown, will open the conference with a brief greeting. He will be followed by Dr. H. E. Wilson, executive assistant of the Carnegie Endowment Fund.

Guest speaker at luncheon will be Dr. Alberto Lleras de Camargo. Dr. Camargo is director general of the Pan American Union.

The talks will conclude on Saturday at 4:30, when all delegates and faculty advisers will attend a tea being held in their honor at the British Embassy.

This is the first time the IRC has held one of their conferences at a Catholic College.

Social Science Plans Tour Of Perry Point Hospital

Members of the Social Science Club will travel to Perry Point Hospital tomorrow. They will be accompanied by Dr. Frank Ayd, Jr., noted psychiatrist and graduate of June '42, who will explain the cold water and electrical therapy methods of treating mental illness.

Last Monday the club heard an address by two representatives of Alcoholics Anonymous, who described the functions and purpose of A. A.

The Critilog

by George Herman

Bruce Marshall, famed Catholic novelist and the author of The World, The Flesh and Father Smith, has presented Hollywood with one of his prize novels for filming; and the result is a moving, though often preachy, motion picture called The Red Danube.

Ethel Barrymore, as Mother Auxilla, stands out for her careful restraint amid much bombast and over-played melodrama. Walter Pidgeon, as the atheist who is supposedly converted at the end of the picture, is splendid. Peter Lawford falls a little short as the romantic interest, and Janet Leigh struggles valiantly under the burden of a Russian accent that sounds rather diluted.

John Ford, who has produced and directed such western epics as Stagecoach, has again turned his hand to this field with the technicolor western She Wore A Yellow Ribbon. Based on a James Warner Bellah story, it captures much of the western spirit and the unexpected thrills of Indian warfare. The scenery is especially impressive in color, and John Wayne was never better.

Speaking of Westerns, a popular novel of the early west entitled The Outriders has been purchased by Hollywood, and John Barrymore, Jr., will play in it. This novel is a remarkably effective and exciting novel involving Confederate guerillas, Pawnee and Shawnee Indians, and unnatural weather conditions.

Commendable Works

The student body has recently witnessed two outstanding works of charity performed on the Evergreen campus. The first of these was the notable response given to an appeal by the Student Council for contributions which would be used to purchase a television set for Alan Meehan, a student stricken with poliomyelitis.

The cause itself was a noble one, but the spontaneous reception of the idea was even more commendable. Without any previous notification, the Council made a successful collection. Every student, almost without exception, contributed. Such an event cannot be placed in a category with the "rah-rah" attitude considered by some to be school spirit. It is a manifestation of true school spirit and points up the collective interest of all enrolled in the College. The students were not only cognizant of a situation, but did something positive to alleviate it.

The second noteworthy event is the orphans' party in which the Sedalities and the Dramatic Society participated. The affair consisted of a re-presentation of Loyola Night, which was followed by a party with all the trimmings. The orphans enjoyed it almost as much as the sponsors. The party gave the orphans an enjoyable afternoon and, at the same time, offered a fine example of Catholic Action.

Free Invitation

The Alumni Association will sponsor a dance after the annual Alumni-Varsity game. The entire student body has been invited. The student body should attend in force and reciprocate the interest manifested by the alumni. The event should be a real success. Besides, it's free.

Rowdysim

Is rowdysim returning from pre-war days to take its place in the activities of undergraduates in American colleges? Of course, everyone hopes that it isn't, but reports from all over the nation seem to indicate that there has been a considerable increase in misbehavior among undergraduates in recent weeks.

The term rowdysim does not include the legitimate pastimes of mature college students. Pleasure and rowdysim are far from synonymous. The word, however, does apply to the so-called enjoyment derived from wantonly destructive or boisterous activity. It is very difficult to conceive of a college student taking pleasure in the destruction of property or the slaying of an acquaintance.

These latter instances are extremes—but they are extremes which will be reached again and again if a general tendency towards rowdysim develops in undergraduate life. Every student should realize his moral obligations, his importance to future society, his social position and the reflection of his activity on his college. Then he should act accordingly.

Of Men And Dogs

When it comes to the controversy raging over the release of dogs to the Johns Hopkins Hospital, it seems that a lesson in ethics is in order. Man is by nature a proprietary being. He may use any brute animal in any manner which conduces to his final end. The notion of vivisection for the advancement of medical knowledge is certainly not repugnant to these facts.

Moreover, it is unfair to conclude that members of such an altruistic profession as medicine would abuse this privilege, once legally granted to them. A group of near-sighted sentimentalists are attempting to prevent the use of these dogs by medical science. But there is no obstacle, theoretical or practical, which should prevent our doing it.

Notify the city authorities and let them know how intelligent men view the question of legitimate medical vivisection.

From The Reader

To the Editor of THE GREYHOUND in care of the Sports Editor.

Dear Sir:

As I told you personally a short time ago, the Alumni Association took, under advisement, at our first Executive Committee meeting, the suggestion you made in your column of the October 21 issue.

We think the idea is a splendid one and therefore will cooperate by supplying an orchestra for a dance after the Alumni-Varsity basketball game on November 23. We will also serve refreshments in the recreation room after the game.

You can help a great deal by publicizing this get-together of the student body and the Alumni. You get the students and their friends in attendance and we will bring out the Alumni.

Looking forward to an enjoyable evening, I am

Sincerely yours,

Now, Now, Boys!

Juvenile delinquency is on the increase again! The Loyola campus was recently treated to a case of bee-brained vandalism which served to better the contrast in the heretofore conservative color scheme of the College buildings. Obviously, a local paint store had disposed of its surplus by supplying a group of potential surrealist with paint and silent-in-the-night brushes.

These over enthusiastic youths, thus equipped, strove to change the school colors to red and gold—an admittedly attractive combination. Perhaps this recent display on the part of fraternally inclined adolescents will furnish material for a new book by some child psychologist. Please use water colors next time, kiddies!

Blue Baron Records 'In A Little Garden'

by Richard Coleman

Possibly you have heard this before around the campus, but I think it rates mentioning again. It seems, if my memory serves me correctly, Mr. Felice Iula wrote a popular tune back in 1932. His tune was recorded by his buddy-buddy Fred Waring and a host of other great artists. At that time the tune became quite popular. Just recently yours truly received a brand new recording by Blue Baron on MGM. This recording came to me from the distributor here in town. The title of the tune on one side of the record was In A Little Garden and under the title was the name of our own illustrious Mr. Iula. George Nolan and the Blue Notes are the kids who do a pretty fair job on the vocal, which is backed by the band of Blue Baron. I think you'll like the tune and the rendition.

It seems that any crooner who can acquire the time segment from 7-7:15 on NBC, Mondays through Fridays is almost guaranteed stardom. This is logical because it is the most listened to spot on the air. Chesterfield Cigs dropped that segment this season and Luckles picked it up pretty fast. Therefore, replacing Como for Chesterfield is Frankie the bow-tie boy Sinatra, who is sponsored by Luckles. The reason I am mentioning this is that this switch certainly has shown up in the respective men's popularity. Sinatra's stock has gone up fifty percent (as if he should worry). Since it shows up in each man's popularity, it also shows up in their respective record sales. Sinatra has two hits riding today for every one of Como's. Sinatra's Don't Cry Joe, If I Ever Love Again, If All Depends On You and a host of his oldies are as popular and as great as they ever were.

With due respect to the artistry of Mr. Como I should like to add that within the last two weeks he and a chorus of forty voices went into a small Catholic Church on Thirty-fourth Street in the merry mid-mad metropolis of Manhattan and recorded the most sincere rendition of Ave Maria and The Lord's Prayer that I have ever heard. It's on a twelve inch Victor Record. See ya later.

From the Library

Too many books are being published, as everybody knows. But just try to find some on the particular topic you want. You may have to discuss the steel strike in speech class, or to write a term paper on colored television or recent proposals for Federal aid to education. Where will you get data enough? In books? Hardly. In magazines? Yes, but a bit-or-miss search could waste hours without discovering one good article.

There is an easy way: use the magazine indexes. A college man who hasn't learned their value is cheating himself. There's one for almost any need: the Education Index, Catholic Periodical Index, Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature (general and popular), Public Affairs Information Service (political and social questions), and the various scientific Abstracts. Under any subject or author you can locate the important articles in any recent period, all in one convenient list. Use them in the reference room and science libraries.

Running With The Hounds

by Bob Bourbon

Two weeks ago the students of Loyola received the discouraging news that one of their fellow-students and star athletes had been stricken, almost overnight, with polio. The gentleman is Alan Meehan, a member of last year's Greyhound track team. Alan, although only a sophomore, has already compiled an outstanding record as a high-jumper; he was a MSA champ in high-school, and he tied for first place in that event during last season's Mason-Dixon championships. But the reason Loyola is thinking of Alan is not because we've lost a track star. It's far more than that.

Alan has made many friends. As an active member of numerous campus organizations he has become well-known, and he is liked by all with whom he has come in contact. We hope to see him up and around soon again, but until such time we send our best wishes to Alan and urge him to a speedy recovery.

Virginia Tech Basketball

On this coming Wednesday evening Loyola pries the lid off its 1949-50 basketball season, meeting the Alumni in our gymnasium at Evergreen. Coach Lefty Reitz definitely wants to win this one, but he's also focusing a wary eye upon the Virginia Tech Gobblers, who move into the Greyhounds' den a week from tomorrow night. The Orange and Maroon quint, hailing out of Blacksburg, Va., is the first of fourteen college teams which will invade the home-grounds before next March, and the Techmen pose as a serious threat, despite evidence which might point to the contrary.

Last year the Gobblers started slowly, but finished up with a rush. They began with a string of six straight losses, and by the time they had finished their twelfth game, only two tests stood on the winning side of the ledger. In a mid-season tussle against the University of Virginia however, the team began to click, and they won eight out of their last eleven games. Only two men have been lost from that outfit. Also the Coach of the Tech squad has this to say, "The schedule is one of the toughest we have ever attempted, but you can't beat good teams unless they are on the schedule".

We're flattered, but let's hope before next Saturday night is over, we're not beaten in the bargain.

Cage Team Prospects

This year's Greyhound squad looks like a fairly representative group, but its ultimate success may hinge on the performance of the reserves. In the early part of last season, it will be remembered, Lefty Reitz was plagued by the lack of adequate replacements, especially against the larger schools, Villanova and LaSalle. If one of our first-stringers fouled out there was a noticeable sag in our offensive and defensive machinery when a reserve was ushered into the game.

Things may be different this season. Right now four of the first five positions seem certain to fall to Mike Zedalis, Bob Anderson, Andy O'Donnell, and Bill Johnson, the regulars from last season. The other starting slot seems to be the object of a three-way slugfest among Frank Barrett and newcomers Walt Sibiski, and Mel Baldwin, with the first of these three the probable choice. Herb Meimert gained valuable experience in '48, and his presence, together with that of Vince Gallagher and Buf Zephir, is one of many factors which should help to give the team a higher grade of reserve power than it had last year. Ben Cook, the tallest man on the squad, and Reds Schneider, the smallest, round out the 12-man roster.

Cedarville Basketball Cancelled

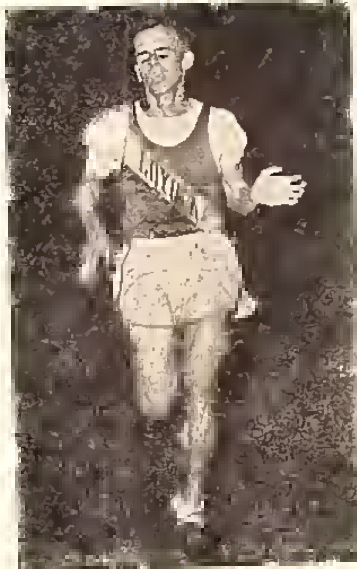

Scratch from your schedules the Cedarville basketball game, originally slated for the night of December 8, here at Evergreen. Cedarville is the team which the Greyhounds beat in the first round of last year's NAIB Tournament, and they were to meet Loyola as part of an eastern tour. The Athletic department wheels at the Ohio institution informed Lefty Reitz this week that they were sorry, but they just couldn't make it. Maybe next year... George Brown, who has led his cross-country teammates across the finish-line in every meet they have run this season is rounding out his fourth year of competition under the Green and Grey banner... At the door of the gymnasium on the night of the Alumni game there will be a collection for the benefit of the National Foundation For Infantile Paralysis. Every year, at one home basketball game during the regular season such a collection is taken up. This year it's the night of November 23. The stipend that they're asking is twenty-five cents from each person, but frankly, we think that they're hoping to get more than that. Anyhow, it's for a worthy cause.

Hillmen Swamp Hopkins For Third Win Of Season

by Joseph Stellins

Loyola College's cross-country team gave a potent display of its ability last Saturday, November 12, as the Green and Grey hillmen defeated a like aggregation from Hopkins, by a score of 16-47, on the Blue Jays' course.

The Hounds were once again paced by reliable George Brown as he completed the difficult layout in 23:23, just 13 seconds short of the record for the 3-mile course. Brown was followed by teammates Tom Volatile, Joe Coyne, and Joe Paszek as the Evergreen squad nailed down the first four positions. Their times were 24:05, 24:20, and 24:30, respectively.

Jack Doyle was the first Hopkins man to finish as he claimed the fifth spot in 24:31. He was closely pursued by George Kimmmerlein of Loyola, who completed the circuit in 24:35, for sixth place. Mike Callahan and Bob Robertson gained a tie for seventh place in 25:00 as the Hounds snared seven out of the first eight positions.

This victory enabled the Hounds to sport a 3 and 3 record to date, having triumphed over Gallaudet in their opening meet of the season, and beaten Catholic U. on the losers' course on November 1.

Loyola has lost to Georgetown, Washington College, and St. Joseph's College, of Philadelphia.

Late Scores

Loyola's cross-country team made it their fourth win in five Mason-Dixon starts last Tuesday afternoon as they downed Mt. St. Mary's, 22 to 39, on the Mountaineers' home course.

George Brown was across first for the visitors as he shattered the Emmitsburg layout by 49 seconds, finishing in 25:26. He was trailed in the race for the tape by the Mounties' Joe Kravjek, who in turn was followed by the Greyhounds' Bill Callahan, George Kimmmerlein, Joe Paszek, and Tom Volatile, respectively.

The Greyhound soccermen finished out their 1949 season last Tuesday afternoon at Johns Hopkins, heating the Jays by a score of 3 to 1. Tom Lind led the Green and Grey's scoring, with two goals.

Loyola Beaten By Seton Hall

by Gene Conroy

After invading the South Orange, New Jersey, campus of Seton Hall College last Saturday afternoon, the Greyhound soccer team tasted its fourth defeat of the season, howling to the Pirates by a close 2 to 1 score.

Lead by their captain and All-American choice of last year, Bill Shappell, and Outside-Right Tony Gilbertt, the Setonites registered singletons in the second and third quarters. For Loyola, Armando Luzzi's tally midway in the third period was their lone counter of the day.

Playing what was perhaps their best game of the year, the Green and Grey showed teamwork and "know-how," both offensively and when on the defense.

However, the play of Seton Hall's defensive alignment was too strong for the Hounds to generate more than once.

The lineups:

Gants	G	Winn

Cage Opener Set For Nov. 23; Alumni To Floor Potent Team

by John Fitzpatrick

On November 26, Loyola College's basketball team officially opens its 1949-50 season against Virginia Tech at Evergreen. Three days before, the Hound courtmen will engage the Alumni in the annual pre-season tussle. This year, the game departed the Evergreen campus. The most notable newcomer is Jim Lacy, the greatest basketball player in the history of Loyola College. Most of us are familiar with Lacy's exploits. Captain of the team last year, he set the national record for most points scored during a college career; holds the honor of being placed on the Mason-Dixon all-star team for all four years; was named on the All-Catholic Tournament unit, and was nominated to the Converse All-American squad.

Recent Grads Form Nucleus

Helping this brilliant basketball team will be five other members of last year's enviable outfit: Sal Cammarata, Bill Ferguson, Bob Barry, John Bailey, and Ed Hughes. These men will join such stalwarts as Tom Gislert, who paced the Alumni scoring in last year's game, with ten points, Paul Feeley, a rugged backboard battler, and set-shot artist Bill Schanberger, from the '47-48 team.

Al Barthelme, former coach of Loyola's basketball team, is also expected to lend heavy support. Barthelme was All-Conference and leading scorer in the Mason-Dixon League during the 1945-46 season. Burly Sid Roche, who recently has been playing professional ball, is counted to carry a portion of the scoring burden. Three men, George Bardelman, Gene O'Connor, and Ed McGarry, all clever, brilliant ball handlers, and play diagnosticians, will direct the Alumni offense.

Former Bullets To Play

These are the men most familiar to the Loyola court followers of today, but there are others who played under the Green and Grey before.

'49 Pass Books Now Available

After much delay because of printing difficulties, the season books for the 1949-50 basketball games are finally available to the student body. Athletic Director Lefty Reitz announced last week, December 2 has been set as the final date on which these books may be secured, after which date further applications will not be honored.

For the fans other than students admission has been set at $1.50 for nine of the home games, and $1.00 for the remaining seven. For students admission will be free, of course, and their season books will consist of 25 tickets. The first 16 will be for the regular tests, and the holder of the book may then use each of the remaining nine stubs, together with $1.00, to gain admittance for a friend to the $1.50 games.

For example, on November 26 Virginia Tech visits Evergreen. General admission for this game has been set at $1.50. If a student comes with a date, stubs number one and twenty-five will be taken from his book, and for $1.00 both will be admitted to the game.

For those students graduating in January '50 stubs for the last six games will be withdrawn, that is, numbers 11 to 16 inclusive. If any in the mid-year graduating class wish to see these games they may pay sixty cents for each ticket, or figures to be more than it has been in the past, a warm-up contest. Two years ago the varsity barely squeezed by the Grads, 42-41. Last year it won in a romp, 63 to 37.

However, this year the varsity faces, undoubtedly, the finest Alumni team in its history; strengthened by six additions from last year's varsity outfit who have

TOM LIND OF LOYOLA, No. 20, and Don Buttermore of Baltimore University, No. 22, go high into the air for possession of the ball in the soccer clash between the two schools. Two unidentified Baltimore players look on.

Bees Top '48 Champs, 1-0 To Gain M-D Soccer Crown

Loyola College's aggressive soccer eleven dropped a nip-and-tuck affair to Baltimore University on November 8, in its final home game of the season, by a 1 to 0 count.

While this tilt was all that was needed to knock the Hounds out of the title race, it was at the same time the clincher by which the Bees annexed the Mason-Dixon Conference championship. The victory for Baltimore was its sixth, with but one the marrying a perfect record for the year. As for the Greyhounds, it was their second conference loss in five starts.

Goalie Play Outstanding

For the first three periods, despite much action in front of the two goals, no shots were able to dent the netting, as a goalie duel went on between Johnny Gants of Loyola and Don Buttermore, net tender for the Bees. Perhaps the best save of the day was a catch by Gants of a high, hard liner, just before the half ended.

The lone tally of the game was a near-impossible boot by Bill Beck after seven and one-half minutes of the final quarter had elapsed. Drilling down the right side line near the corner, Beck toed one from far-out which caught the upper left-hand corner of Loyola's goal.

Scoring Chance Thwarted

Loyola's last chance for a score came after a corner shot brought the ball into scoring position. A skirmish then developed in front of the Bees' goal, at which time an attempt by Tommy Lind to "head" the ball into the netting was thwarted by the visitors' goalie.

The chumps then commanded the ball for the final thirty seconds of the game.

Harriers Face Tourney; Top CU, Lose To Hawks

M-Dixon Tournament

Loyola's harriers will be among ten colleges bidding for honors at the Mason-Dixon Cross Country Championships to be held at Bridgewater, Va., Monday, November 21. For the first time, the eighth renewal of this classic has been shifted from Gallandet College to a new site.

The championships, which will be run over a three and three-quarter mile course, bring together a number of individual running stars and teams who do not meet during the regular season, offering one of the outstanding cross-country events of the year.

Hope To Redeem Selves

Owning a mediocre log of two wins and three losses in dual competition this year, the Greyhound squad hopes to redeem itself by equalling or surpassing their second-place position of last season.

Couch Bill McElroy relies on a seven-man squad of veterans and newcomers to carry the Green and Grey to prominence. Tentative plans call for George Brown, Joe Paszek, Tom Volatile, Mike Callanan, George Kimmmerlein, Bill Robertson, and Joe Coyne to make the Virginia trip.

Roanoke Probable Winner

Roanoke College, winner of the 1948 title, appears likely to repeat its past accomplishment. Surprising, however, is its defeat by Bridgewater in an earlier duel meet this year.

Washington College also looms as a possible candidate for the conference crown in view of its record-breaking performance against the Hounds. The shore trio of Dryden, Brandeuburg, and Bowle finished one-two-three, to set a course record at Evergreen.

Smith Seems Favorite

Roanoke's Smith, who finished second to George Rodney last year, is a strong favorite. Johns Hopkins' boys rest on Earl Grlam, Mason-Dixon two-mile champ, while Loyola looks to its perennial standout, George Brown.

The ten schools participating are: Bridgewater, Catholic University, Gallandet, Johns Hopkins, Lynchburg, Loyola, Mt. St. Mary's, Randolph-Macon, Roanoke, and Washington.

St. Joseph's College

On Saturday, November 5, Loyola's Cross-Country team absorbed its worst shellacking of the season, as it bowed to St. Joseph's College, of Philadelphia, by a score of 15 to 50.

The Hawks' Tom Duffy was first over the finish line of the new Loyola course, and he was followed by nine of his teammates. Duffy's time was 2 minutes and 23 seconds.

Brown First For Loyola

The first man for the Greyhounds was the "old reliable" George Brown, who came in 2 minutes and 4 seconds after Duffy. The Loyola ace was trailed closely by Tom Volatile and Joe Paszek.

For the Green and Grey it was their second straight non-conference loss and their third setback of the 1949 season.

Catholic University

With George Brown setting the pace, Loyola's harriers copped their second meet of the Mason-Dixon conference season on Tuesday, November 1, as they swamped Catholic University, 16 to 47.

The Greyhounds finished one-two-three-four in the race run on the losers' three-and-three-quarter-mile course, with Joe Paszek and Bill Callanan tying for second place and the winners' Tom Volatile sewing up the fourth position.

Jack Field was the first Catholic University runner to cross the finish line, and he was closely followed by George Kimmmerlein, Bill Robinson and Joe Coyne, of Loyola, in that order.

IT TOOK FIVE SETS TO DO IT, but Talhot Cockey had it in the clutch as he edged Bob Miller, in the recently-held Fall Intramural Tennis Tournament. Cockey is a sophomore and Miller is a senior.

Tennis Finals To T. Cockey; Beats R. Miller In Five Sets

by Clark Corcoran

Tennis

With a thrilling finish which would rival any Frank Merriwell feat, Talhot Cockey came through to defeat Bob Miller, on Wednesday, November 9, and capture the champion's crown in the finals of the fall tennis tournament.

Two days were required to furnish the winner, in the best-of-five-sets series. Miller started off by playing an unbeatable game as he dropped Cockey in the first two sets. In the next set Cockey edged through with an 8-6 set, to keep his chances alive, and followed this with another close win, 7-5. Darkness then postponed the rubber game.

In the final set on Wednesday Cockey seemed to find his game, and dumped Miller, 6-4. A more exciting or closer match would have been impossible. It was a great climax to a hard-fought tournament.

Touch Football

As the Intramural season draws down to the wire, a look at the standings shows a tight race in both leagues. The Hot Shots hold a slight edge over the Rotor Heads in League 2, while the Globetrotters, playing 1,000 football, continue to lead the pack in League 1.

Mammoth Schedule Slated For Frosh Basketballers

by Andy O'Donnell

The Loyola College Freshman basketball quintet, bursting with new talent and led by Coach Emil "Lefty" Reltz, looks like one of the best Frosh units to grace the hardwood of the Green and Grey in many a moon.

Boasting representatives from Pennsylvania, New York and Maryland, the junior dribblers face a tough twenty-game schedule. Opposing clubs like Villanova Frosh, Second Army, Towson Catholic and Jay-Vee teams of the Mason-Dixon loop, the Reltz-men have many a hectic contest ahead of them.

Leading the parade of talent are New York's gifts to Loyola "Nap" Dougherty and Ed Kelly, both of whom are excellent ball handlers and adept playmakers. Boh Gulas, Paterson Park High School luminary, and Gene Carney, a Pennsylvania boy, are taking over rebound chores with a vengeance. Diminutive Benny Lathroum and Dick Ward team up at the guard positions. Bob Schuyler, a Wilkes Barre, Pa. product, and Carmen Maffer of Exeter, Pa., look good at the forward posts.

"Easy" Ed Kowaleski and Jim Kuhn, two Highlandtowners, form a defensive duo of sterling quality. "Cool" Joe Nelson and "Hustling" Ronnie Reinsfelter, also products of the Eastside, loom as two greats on the court horizon. Tom McKew, Loyola High grad playing in the pivot, adds the extra punch to the high octane squad.

Wrestling, Swimming

Captains Jack Blondell of the Loyola swimming team, and John Mercaldo of the wrestling squad sent out an initial call last week for aspirants to positions on their respective teams. So far the appeal has resulted in over twenty hopefuls reporting for wrestling, and some thirty-odd working out in the Loyola pool, in anticipation of regular berths on the swimming team.

Bowling Title To '42 Class

by John Mercaldo

The Loyola Alumni Association bowling race has been closely contested and the winner of the first round was not decided until the last pin fell on Tuesday evening, November 8.

Going into the first round, the '42 rollers were tied with the October '43 plusters at 13 won and 8 lost. The third, fourth, and fifth positions were occupied by the teams of '59, '48, and '40, respectively, followed by a three-way tie in sixth place among the '47, '44-'45, and '49 squads. The class of '43 held on to the bottom rung.

As chance would have it, the first place '42 plumen rolled the Oct. '43 team the last three games, coming out two up and one down in close games. The class of '59 drew a bye, thereby backing into second place, and the '48 bowlers won three straight from the men of '47, to take third place.

Thus the first round closed with the class of '42 victorious. Paul Donohue, '40, proved to be the big gun as he rolled the high weekly game with a 128. Donohue also has the highest average for 24 games, with 2546 pins and a 106.04, although Bud McQuay, '47, has a 113.33 average for three games.

Mr. Huck Boasts Varied Mathematical Background

by George Strohecker

A man who can speak of practically every field of knowledge in terms of mathematics is indeed a unique personality. Loyola, however, is blessed with such a man in Mr. Raymond Huck, assistant professor in Mathematics.

Mr. Huck was born in Centralia, Illinois, where he attended elementary school. After he was graduated, he travelled to Carlinville, Illinois, to attend the Blackburn Academy. It was during this preparatory education at Blackburn that he cultivated an interest in mathematics.

He continued his pursuance of the science at Illinois College. After he received his Bachelor of Science Degree, he entered the University of Illinois to study for his Master's Degree. He did graduate study at the University of Michigan, while residing in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Mr. Huck began his teaching career at Centralia High School, in Illinois, where he taught algebra and trigonometry. Upon his departure from Centralia, he travelled to College Park, Maryland. He became a member of the University of Maryland mathematics department, giving instruction in college mathematics, including the calculus.

In 1948, Mr. Huck came to Loyola College. When asked if he had made any particular observations about Loyola, he said that its small student body tends to mold the individual students into well-rounded men.

A native of Grove, Oklahoma, Norman Hays graduated from Grove High School in 1935. The following year he entered Oklahoma A&M, where he majored in engineering; also took public speaking.

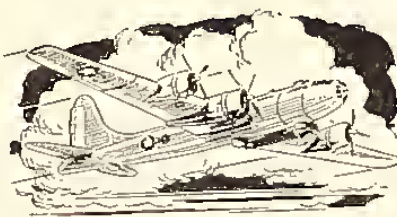

Active in national 4H Club work while in college, he helped organize its statewide activities, won a national 4H championship in Public Speaking. In 1940 he received his BS degree in engineering.

A month later he began navigator training as an Aviation Cadet. In 1941, he received his navigator's wings and a commission as Second Lieutenant . . . married his college sweetheart.

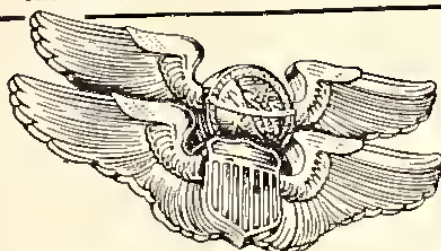

Sent to an RAF Navigation School in Canada, he graduated with the highest possible rating of Specialist. Norman served overseas for 18 months in the Aleutians, Italy and Saipan.

Accepting a regular commission after the war, he was assigned to development of navigation instruments; navigated the B-29 "Pacusan Dreamboat" on its famed Hawaii-Cairo non-stop flight in 1946.

Typical of college graduates who have found their place in the U. S. Air Force, Major Hays is Chief, Navigation Section, at Headquarters in Washington . . . with a secure career . . . a promising future.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider a flying career as an officer in the U. S. Air Force. You may be able to meet the high physical and moral requirements and be selected for training. If you do not complete Aviation Cadet training, you may return to civilian life or have opportunity to train for an important officer assignment in non-flying fields.

Air Force officer procurement teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain about these career opportunities. Watch for their arrival or get full details at your nearest Air Force Base, local recruiting station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.
